

Fixing climate change, one start-up at a time.

ClimateLaunchpad.

It is all hands on deck to fix climate change. That is why we help green entrepreneurs across the globe build successful businesses.

From business ideas to commercially scalable solutions

Tackling climate change requires commercially scalable solutions.

This is how we achieve that:

- Bright and driven people from various walks of life enter their green business ideas into our competition.
- They get training and coaching in the skills they need to turn their idea into a successful company.
- We connect them with customers, the business community and capital. This way we create an innovation ecosystem for scalable climate change solutions.

A business school in disguise

ClimateLaunchpad is a business school in disguise; a 6-month learning programme shaped as a competition. It consists of three rounds:

Round 1: Boot Camp

A National Jury selects a minimum of 7 business ideas per country for participation in ClimateLaunchpad. These teams enter the national 2-day Boot Camps.

Round 2: Intensive coaching and National Finals

After Boot Camp all teams attend six intensive coaching sessions before entering the National Finals. The Top-2 of each country enters the Global Grand Final.

Round 3: Global Grand Final

At the Global Grand Final teams pitch in front of leading investors and entrepreneurs and for an audience of around 600 people. The ultimate win? Access to the renowned Climate-KIC Accelerator and prize money.
